

The Saturday Kitchen is a programme dedicated to helping new businesses move through the planning process

The Saturday Kitchen includes a mid morning breakfast of local bacon and free range eggs with a chance to discuss your business situation in a friendly and informal environment. As the morning progresses we chat more about your business plan, what your key customers may be looking for, and the challenges, opportunities and possible solutions that lay ahead. Then over a lunchtime hog roast we will help you to define some key objectives and performance indicators to move your business forward. All of this is wrapped up into one practical, insightful and great tasting half day in the Kitchen!
